RE: American Oversight v. U.S. DHS, et al., 1:18-cv-02842-CKK
ICE FOIA Case Number 2019-ICLI-00008
Second Interim Release

Dear Mr. Yenouskas:

This letter is the second interim response to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request submitted by your client, American Oversight, to U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), dated December 04, 2018. The request sought all email communications between Thomas Homan, Thomas Blank, or John Feere, and any of the individuals/organizations specified.

ICE has considered your request under the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552.

A search of Mr. Homan's, Mr. Blank's, and Mr. Feere's records was conducted. This search resulted in the location of potentially responsive records. For this production, ICE reviewed 527 pages of potentially responsive records. Of those 527 pages, ICE determined that 36 pages were responsive. These documents have been Bates numbered 2019-ICLI-00008 152 through 2019-ICLI-00008 187.

ICE has applied FOIA Exemptions (b)(6) and (b)(7)(C) to portions of these pages as described below.

ICE has applied FOIA Exemptions 6 and 7(C) to protect from disclosure the names, e-mail addresses, and phone numbers of DHS employees and third parties contained within the documents.

FOIA Exemption 6 exempts from disclosure personnel or medical files and similar files the release of which would cause a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. This requires a balancing of the public's right to disclosure against the individual's right to privacy. The privacy interests of the individuals in the records you have requested outweigh any minimal public interest in disclosure of the information. Any private interest you may have in that information does not factor into the aforementioned balancing test.

FOIA Exemption 7(C) protects records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes that could reasonably be expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. This exemption takes particular note of the strong interests of individuals, whether they are suspects, witnesses, or investigators, in not being unwarrantably associated with alleged criminal activity. That interest extends to persons who are not only the subjects of the investigation, but those who may have their privacy invaded by having their identities and information about them revealed in connection with an investigation. Based upon the traditional recognition of strong privacy interest in law enforcement records, categorical withholding of information that identifies third parties in law enforcement records is ordinarily appropriate. As such, I have determined that the privacy interest in the identities of individuals in the records you have requested clearly outweigh any minimal public interest in disclosure of the information. Please note that any private interest you may have in that information does not factor into this determination.

If you have any questions about this matter, please contact Assistant U.S. Attorney Scott L. Sroka at (202) 252-7113 or Scott.Sroka@usdoj.gov.

Sincerely,

Toni Fuentes for

If anyone tries to tell you that ICE should be abolished or that "illegal immigration" is not a problem for American citizens, I hope you can share some of these statistics to educate them why both of those positions are factually incorrect, to say the very least.

Please check out the transcript of the show.

I was pleased to see that a gentleman who I am honored to have 'met' via email and phone, Don Rosenberg, head of AVIAC, was interviewed for this show:

Don Rosenberg: We've heard a lot tonight about tearing families apart. What we never hear from those people is any acknowledgement whatsoever about the families that are torn apart or really destroyed by the presence of illegal immigrants in California and the United States. I know all too well the damage caused by sanctuary policy as my son was killed in San Francisco by an illegal alien protected by that city's sanctuary policies. So for the person that said sanctuary policies don't hurt anybody, I'm certainly evidence- and my son, evidence that you're wrong.

NOTE:

The information analyzed was compiled by the Government Accountability Office using statistics from the FBI, Immigration and Customs Enforcement and a state reimbursement program.

With much debate over sanctuary cities and the amount of crime attributable to illegal immigrants, we look at both sides in today's Full Measure cover story. You can see a replay here.

Meantime, I looked through federal records to find the latest known statistics on illegal immigrant crime. Here's some of the information. The Center for Immigration Studies reached out to request AD1's participation for an upcoming panel discussion on immigration. Below is their exact request.

"The Center for Immigration Studies launches a new speaker series this spring, Immigration Newsmaker Speaker Series. The initial guests will be government agency leaders (USCIS, EOIR, PRM, DOJ) and members of Congress. The one hour event with Director Homan, which would be held at the National Press Club, would be a seated, casual conversation between Homan and our executive director, Mark Krikorian or our director of policy studies, Jessica Vaughan. This is meant to be a friendly sit down - an opportunity for Homan to talk about challenges, priorities, and goals. I imagine topics would include: the impact of sanctuary cities on enforcement, worksite enforcement, the myth of a massive immigration enforcement dragnet, etc.

As to format, I am planning a 30-45 minute conversation, with Q & A to follow, which would come from the audience and CIS staff. Attendees will not be able to ask questions from the floor, questions will be passed to staff who will select questions to be asked. If Homan would prefer to not to take questions, we would just extend the chat a bit longer.

The event will be open to the public, with invitations going out to media, legislative staff, and the general CIS mailing list. I certainly plan to invite C-SPAN to attend. I would expect between 35 and 70 attendees. The event will be videotaped and posted online, along with a transcript.

Tom Homan Is the Right Person at the Right Time to Run ICE

By Dan Cadman on November 17, 2017

On November 14, the administration announced President Trump's intention to nominate Tom Homan, the acting director of Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) to permanently head the organization.

No sooner had the announcement been made than the long knives were out. Homan was depicted as an "Obama holdover" and, in some way not explained, one of the crafters of the many ill-advised, indeed outrageous, anti-enforcement policies of that administration. Not so. He spent his professional life as an up-from-the-ranks career immigration officer.

It is only perseverance, a recognition of his hard work and skills, and a healthy dose of serendipity based on timing and the election of Trump — believed by all the pols and pundits to be a long shot — that landed Homan in the right place at the right time to even be around long enough to head the agency on a temporary basis.

And he is the right person at the right time for this important job. Unlike most nominees for high posts, he has come up through the ranks. This gives him a huge advantage in an administration that has focused on restoring the rule of law to our out-of-control immigration system. When agents speak to Homan about the job, he knows what they are talking about in ways that political appointees never will, even after substantial coaching.

Those who cast Homan in the light of an Obama holdover don't grasp that his career experience has spanned many other administrations as well. While the critics may not have cared for many, perhaps most, of the policies enacted during the Obama administration that were designed to obstruct immigration enforcement (I certainly didn't), it would be egregiously unfair to lay them at Homan's doorstep. Those policies emanated from the White House, not Homan.

In my many decades both inside the immigration system and as an outside observer and commenter, this is the first time I have seen a seasoned professional nominated for the top job (with the exception of the Border Patrol). It's long overdue. The job requires command of excruciatingly difficult nuances and details. It takes an experienced veteran, not a political dilettante, to see policies and processes brought to reality in any meaningful way.

There have been allegations that even with the change of administrations, there have been some incidents that reflect a culture still reminiscent of the Obama years — agents told not to wear their bulletproof vests, or directed to provide advance warning of field operations. Those need to be investigated and if there is a shred of truth to them, the supervisors responsible should be held to task. Homan can make clear his support for this endeavor by issuing an all-hands statement that any such improprieties will be dealt with swiftly and severely, and establishing a mechanism for the reporting of incidents that put agents and operations at risk. He might also consider calling the relevant field office directors to headquarters for a woodshedding.

As for the rank-and-file agents, they need to stop and consider before participating in any endeavor to sink Homan's candidacy: This may be their one and only opportunity to serve under a fellow officer who knows intimately and personally what it's like to work the streets. They should embrace the chance.

DACA Is Not What the Democrats Say It Is. Here Are the Facts.

Hans von Spakovsky / December 04, 2017

Some members of Congress are threatening to block government funding unless Congress provides amnesty to so-called Dreamers—the illegal aliens included in President Barack Obama’s Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program, which President Donald Trump is ending.

Responsible members of Congress should not give in.

Such an effort would be fundamentally flawed and would only encourage even more illegal immigration—just as the 1986 amnesty in the Immigration Reform and Control Act did.

Democrats portray the DACA program as only benefitting those who were a few years old when they came to the U.S. illegally, leaving them unable to speak their native language and ignorant of their countries' cultural norms. Therefore, the reasoning goes, it would be a hardship to return them to the countries where they were born.

Obama himself gave this rationale when he said DACA beneficiaries were “brought to this country by their parents” as infants and face “deportation to a country that [they] know nothing about, with a language” they don’t even speak.

While this may be true of a small portion of the DACA population, it certainly is not true of all of the aliens who received administrative amnesty. In fact, illegal aliens were eligible as long as they came to the U.S. before their 16th birthday and were under the age of 31 as of June 15, 2012.

DACA also required that beneficiaries enroll in school, graduate from high school, obtain a GED certificate, or receive an honorable discharge from the military; have no conviction for a felony, significant misdemeanor, or three or more other misdemeanors; and not pose a threat to national security or public safety.

However, the Obama administration appeared to routinely waive the education (or its equivalent) requirement as long as the illegal alien was enrolled in some kind of program. Only 49 percent of DACA beneficiaries have a high school education—despite the fact that a majority of them are adults.

>>> Why Congress Should Not Legalize DACA: The Myths Surrounding the Program

How thorough was Homeland Security vetting? In February 2017, after the arrest of a DACA beneficiary for gang membership, the Department of Homeland Security admitted that at least 1,500 DACA beneficiaries had their eligibility terminated “due to a criminal conviction, gang affiliation, or a criminal conviction related to gang affiliation.”

By August 2017, that number had surged to 2,139.

In fact, based on documents obtained by Judicial Watch, it is apparent that the Obama administration used a “lean and light” system of background checks in which only a few, randomly selected DACA applicants were ever actually vetted.

Additionally, DACA only excluded individuals for convictions. Thus, even if a Homeland Security background investigation—which apparently was almost never done—produced substantial evidence that an illegal alien might have committed multiple crimes, the alien would still be eligible for DACA unless Homeland Security referred the violation to state or federal prosecutors and the alien was convicted.

DACA had no requirement of English fluency either. In fact, the original application requested applicants to answer whether the form had been “read” to the alien by a translator “in a language in which [the applicant is] fluent.”

The Center for Immigration Studies estimates that “perhaps 24 percent of the DACA-eligible population fall into the functionally illiterate category and another 46 percent have only ‘basic’ English ability.”

This is a far cry from the image of DACA beneficiaries as all children who don’t speak the language of—and know nothing about the culture of—their native countries.

In fact, it seems rather that a significant percentage of DACA beneficiaries may have serious limitations in their education, experience, and English fluency that negatively affected their ability to function in American society.

Providing amnesty to low-skilled, low-educated aliens with marginal English language ability would impose large fiscal costs on American taxpayers resulting from increased government payouts and benefits, and would be unfair to legal immigrants who obeyed the law to come here.

Any congressional amnesty bill providing citizenship for DACA beneficiaries could significantly increase the number of illegal aliens who will benefit unless Congress amends the sponsorship rules under federal immigration law. Providing lawful status to millions of so-called “Dreamers” will allow the extended families of those aliens to profit from illegal conduct.

The U.S. accepts about a million legal immigrants every year. According to a recent study, of the 33 million legal immigrants admitted over the last 35 years, about 61 percent were chain migration immigrants.

The average immigrant has sponsored 3.45 additional immigrants, but for DACA beneficiaries, that number is likely to be much higher. This is because, according to an analysis by the Department of Homeland Security, 76 percent of the DACA beneficiaries were from Mexico.

Mexican immigrants sponsor an average of 6.38 additional legal immigrants—the highest rate of any nationality for chain migration.

Providing amnesty would simply attract even more illegal immigration and would not solve the myriad of enforcement problems we have along our borders and in the interior of the country. Congress should concentrate on giving the federal government (with the assistance and help of state and local governments) the resources to enforce existing immigration laws to reduce the illegal alien population in the U.S. and stem entry into the country.

Until those goals are accomplished, it is premature to even consider any DACA-type bill.

Hi Tom, just touching base for tomorrow. We've met with your security folks so I think we are set on that front.

Just one detail I wanted to iron out regarding the keynote and I'm cc'ing the host, Paul Rosenzweig-

For Q&A after his address, how do you want to handle? Would you like Director Homan to take his own questions or would you prefer the Paul Rosenzweig moderate the questions? I would recommend the latter, but we can do whichever way you prefer.

Let me know if you have any further questions. I'm looking forward to tomorrow's event.

I tried to get him to host but to no avail as we have a big donor event that day in town and he is scheduled to speak on panels over there. Hopefully he will make it back for the lunch.

Enforcement of U.S. immigration law is often a contentious and emotional issue. It is clear, however, that no matter what kind of legal immigration system the United States puts in place, the U.S. government will be responsible for admitting legal immigrants and stopping illegal ones. Due to long-term government failures to faithfully carry out this responsibility, the United States currently finds itself with a population of between 11 and 12 million immigrants illegally present in the country. If the U.S. is to improve its immigration system, immigration laws must be effectively enforced to remove illegal immigrants and deter future illegal immigration.

Join us for a discussion of the important ways immigration enforcement can be strengthened as well as a keynote address by Acting Director of ICE Thomas Homan, a 34-year veteran of law enforcement, to hear what the Trump Administration is doing in this area.

RE: American Oversight v. U.S. DHS, et al., 1:18-cv-02842-CKK
ICE FOIA Case Number 2019-ICLI-00008
Third Interim Release

Dear Mr. Yenouskas:

This letter is the third interim response to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request submitted by your client, American Oversight, to U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), dated December 04, 2018. The request sought all email communications between Thomas Homan, Thomas Blank, or John Feere, and any of the individuals/organizations specified. ICE has considered your request under the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552.

A search of Mr. Homan's, Mr. Blank's, and Mr. Feere's records was conducted. This search resulted in the location of potentially responsive records. For this production, ICE reviewed 258 pages of potentially responsive records. Of those 258 pages, ICE determined that 116 pages were responsive. These documents have been Bates numbered 2019-ICLI-00008 188 through 2019-ICLI-00008 303.

ICE has applied FOIA Exemptions (b)(5), (b)(6) and (b)(7)(C) to portions of these pages as described below.

ICE has applied Exemption 5 to protect from disclosure intra-agency documents that contain the recommendations, opinions, and conclusions of agency employees. The disclosure of these communications would discourage the expression of candid opinions and inhibit the free and frank exchange of information and opinions among agency personnel on important agency decision-making by having a chilling effect on the agency's deliberative process.

FOIA Exemption 5 protects from disclosure those inter- or intra-agency documents that are normally privileged in the civil discovery context. The three most frequently invoked privileges are the deliberative process privilege, the attorney work-product privilege, and the attorney-client privilege. After carefully reviewing the responsive documents, I have determined that portions of the responsive documents qualify for protection under the deliberative process privilege. The deliberative process privilege protects the integrity of the deliberative or decision-making processes within the agency by exempting from mandatory disclosure opinions, conclusions, and recommendations included within inter-agency or intra-agency memoranda or letters. The release of this internal information would discourage the expression of candid opinions and inhibit the free and frank exchange of information among agency personnel.

ICE has applied FOIA Exemptions 6 and 7(C) to protect from disclosure the names, e-mail addresses, and phone numbers of DHS employees and third parties contained within the documents.

FOIA Exemption 6 exempts from disclosure personnel or medical files and similar files the release of which would cause a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. This requires a balancing of the public's right to disclosure against the individual's right to privacy. The privacy interests of the individuals in the records you have requested outweigh any minimal public interest in disclosure of the information. Any private interest you may have in that information does not factor into the aforementioned balancing test.

FOIA Exemption 7(C) protects records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes that could reasonably be expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. This exemption takes particular note of the strong interests of individuals, whether they are suspects, witnesses, or investigators, in not being unwarrantably associated with alleged criminal activity. That interest extends to persons who are not only the subjects of the investigation, but those who may have their privacy invaded by having their identities and information about them revealed in connection with an investigation. Based upon the traditional recognition of strong privacy interest in law enforcement records, categorical withholding of information that identifies third parties in law enforcement records is ordinarily appropriate. As such, I have determined that the privacy interest in the identities of individuals in the records you have requested clearly outweigh any minimal public interest in disclosure of the information. Please note that any private interest you may have in that information does not factor into this determination.

If you have you any questions about this matter, please contact Assistant U.S. Attorney Scott L. Sroka at (202) 252-7113 or Scott.Sroka@usdoj.gov.

Sincerely,

Toni Fuentes for

Subject: Several requests I hope you can help with

Hi Barbara,

I hope you're well and having a great summer, considering all that is going on. I'm writing to see if you can help me with a couple of things. Sorry to throw all this at you at once and with little notice. The first request is the most urgent.

1. On August 6, I am giving a one-day training presentation "immigration law, policy and practice for public safety" at Northwestern University's Center for Public Safety for a group of about 30 command-level LEOs from around the country, but mostly from the Chicago area. I do this every year. Some of the handouts I use are from ICE, but I don't have enough for the next class. Could you tell me how to obtain 50 copies of these: a) Guide to Selected US Travel and Identity Documents (from the ICE Forensic Document Lab – Form M-396); b) a brochure describing the LESC with all the contact numbers and program descriptions; c) a brochure on Operation Community Shield; and d) a brochure on 287(g), and any other pubs that you think would be good to hand out.

2. In the past I have had guest speakers from ICE, one time the Chicago SAC and his deputy came and another time Phil Miller came and brought a rep from the local FOD. I would love to have both ERO and HSI represented if possible, and in my experience it has worked best to have the local people, no need for anyone from ICE HQ to travel for this. What would be the best way to make this request of the Chicago people? Is Gary Hartwig still the SAC? He was very good and everyone liked his presentation.

3. Are there any statistics on the 287(g) program that are available without doing a FOIA request? In particular we are looking for arrests by program, number of officers trained, that sort of thing. In addition, we would like to obtain copies of the periodic field office reports and OPR reports on each program that are done semi-annually, I believe.

Thanks so much for all your help, and please call or write to me if you have any questions. Best, Jessica Enforcement of U.S. immigration law is often a contentious and emotional issue. It is clear, however, that no matter what kind of legal immigration system the United States puts in place, the U.S. government will be responsible for admitting legal immigrants and stopping illegal ones. Due to long-term government failures to faithfully carry out this responsibility, the United States currently finds itself with a population of between 11 and 12 million immigrants illegally present in the country. If the U.S. is to improve its immigration system, immigration laws must be effectively enforced to remove illegal immigrants and deter future illegal immigration.

Join us for a discussion of the important ways immigration enforcement can be strengthened as well as a keynote address by Acting Director of ICE Thomas Homan, a 34-year veteran of law enforcement, to hear what the Trump Administration is doing in this area.

Founder, Red Branch Consulting; and Visiting Fellow, The Heritage Foundation

Enforcement of U.S. immigration law is often a contentious and emotional issue. It is clear, however, that no matter what kind of legal immigration system the United States puts in place, the U.S. government will be responsible for admitting legal immigrants and stopping illegal ones. Due to long-term government failures to faithfully carry out this responsibility, the United States currently finds itself with a population of between 11 and 12 million immigrants illegally present in the country. If the U.S. is to improve its immigration system, immigration laws must be effectively enforced to remove illegal immigrants and deter future illegal immigration.

Join us for a discussion of the important ways immigration enforcement can be strengthened as well as a keynote address by Acting Director of ICE Thomas Homan, a 34-year veteran of law enforcement, to hear what the Trump Administration is doing in this area.

Hi Tom, just touching base for tomorrow. We've met with your security folks so I think we are set on that front.

Just one detail I wanted to iron out regarding the keynote and I'm cc'ing the host, Paul Rosenzweig- For Q&A after his address, how do you want to handle? Would you like Director Homan to take his own questions or would you prefer the Paul Rosenzweig moderate the questions? I would recommend the latter, but we can do whichever way you prefer.

Let me know if you have any further questions. I'm looking forward to tomorrow's event.

The event starts at 9:30am, but Mark and Jessica would love the opportunity to speak with Homan prior to the event. Would he be available for coffee or breakfast at 8:30am at the NPC? They could meet in the 13th floor lobby.

Tom,

Thanks for your prompt reply and for your assistance to the City of Fremont. Attached is the letter you requested from the chief of police stating that I am their legal representative.

Regarding your point below about the three categories, would it be possible to provide some indicator of which of the three categories the alien falls in? Such as: (1) "ICE possesses no record - may be unlawfully present," (2) "no response - confidentiality restriction," and (3) "no response - identity uncertain." That way the City would at least know which cases cannot be investigated further and which cases may warrant further attention.

Thanks again.

Kris,

I had my staff take a look at your request and we will be happy to provide a substantive response once we have some additional information. To ensure that ICE is acting consistently with 8 USC 1373(c), the Privacy Act, and the Fremont Ordinance itself (which contemplates the request being made by the Fremont Police Department), ICE would ask that the request for this information be routed to us directly from the Fremont PD, or in the alternative, that some documentation be provided to ICE showing that you are making the request on their behalf as a legal representative. My staff believes that would support the request and follow-up response.

Just to clarify our understanding of the request, we understand that Fremont is looking for ICE to confirm (from a list of persons whose information is provided by the city) those who are unlawfully present, to the extent that ICE has such information available. Is this correct?

Assuming this understanding is correct, it's important to clarify a couple of things. As you probably know, there will most likely be people on the list submitted by the Fremont PD for whom ICE has no records, or whose identity ICE cannot confirm based on the information provided. There may also be instances where ICE is not legally able to disclose information, due to federal confidentiality restrictions. In handling both of those situations, the response to the Fremont PD would be simply no response at all. In other words, a "no response" response does not equate to, and should not be used to presume, unlawful presence.

Once ICE receives the request from the Fremont PD, or documentation from you confirming your status as its legal representative, ICE will begin to process the request. After we've processed it, we can see if there are ways for the incoming information to be packaged up in a way that is easier for our systems to ingest and process, in the event of future requests. What you've sent us will likely involve a fair amount of manual searching. If we can find an efficient way to do this, it will speed up any future responses. I hope all this makes sense.

Please let me know if you have further questions.

Thank you.

Subject: Fremont, NE, aliens to be checked.

Tom,

Great talking with you this afternoon. I look forward to working with you and helping ICE in any way I can in the years ahead.

Here is that list of alien tenants in Fremont, NE, containing individuals the City would like to verify the immigration status of.

The background is as follows. The citizens of Fremont adopted this ordinance by popular initiative in 2010. The ACLU sued the City thereafter, and I defended the City in court. The case went all the way to the 8th Circuit, and the City prevailed. The 8th Circuit held that the City has every right to restrict tenancy to legal aliens to US citizens and lawfully present aliens. The 8th Circuit also approved the enforcement mechanism in the ordinance. The case is Martinez v. Fremont (a copy of the court's opinion is attached). The City started enforcing the ordinance in April 2014.

The way the Fremont ordinance works is that every new tenant in an apartment has to obtain an occupancy license from the Fremont Police Department. On the application, the tenant must state whether he is a US citizen or an alien. If the applicant says he's a US citizen, the City takes him at his word. If the applicant says he's an alien, he is advised to provide his country of citizenship and any number that he possesses that has been given to him by the US government (A number, employment authorization number, etc.).

The City issues the occupancy license immediately, but is subsequently able to give the information provided by the alien to ICE to "ascertain the ... immigration status" of the alien, pursuant to 8 USC 1373(c). If it is determined that the alien is not lawfully present in the United States, then the occupancy license can be revoked. (The alien is then given the opportunity to rebut the determination of status, and is afforded the opportunity to seek more information from ICE or USCIS to clarify his status.)

Attached is a list of 289 aliens who have applied for occupancy licenses from April 2014 to March 2017. So roughly 100 per year. The list includes the name, address in Fremont, DoB, country of origin, and number assigned to the alien (if available). A few of the aliens at the beginning of the list are missing DoBs or countries of origin -- if there is not enough information in those cases to check the status of the alien, that is fine. After this first large batch of 289, we would anticipate that the City might send a smaller number (50 or so) to be verified every 6 months or so, depending on what you advise.

If you could assign someone to determine the immigration status of each alien and add that to the attached Word file, that would be great. If the alien is either known to be unlawfully present or not known at all to the US government (and therefore presumably unlawfully present) please indicate that as well.

The Fremont ordinance permits the City to share any information on the alien's application with ICE for ICE's own purposes. So if your agents want to use that information for ICE enforcement operations, the ordinance contemplates that.

If you have any questions, please email me at this address or feel free to text me at 913-638-(b)(6). If you have any suggestions as to how the process could be made as easy as possible for ICE, please let me know.

Thanks for your help with this.

Yours,

Kris Kobach

We were wondering whether Heritage might have a forum that may be interested in inviting him to speak on immigration issues. We have been doing a lot of media but he has not had the chance to present these issues in a speech, roundtable type of situation.

I thought I would reach out and get your advice as well as assure you have my new coordinates.

For someone of his rank, we would generally have him only give the keynote while the panel was more analyst/fellow level discussion of enforcement. The panel would be made up probably of Heritage staff and maybe an outside think tanker who has similar views. Off the top of my head, I could see myself, Dr.

Carafano, and Hans von Spakovsky as potential panelists from Heritage. Examples of potential outside experts we might invite would be Jessica Vaughan of CIS or maybe a Senate/House staffer from Homeland/Judiciary committees.

Obviously this is all up in the air but it gives you an idea of what the panel might look like.

I've talked it over with our events team and the week of 2nd might be a bit too fast of a turn around and there is limited availability. October is a busy month so I got all the available spots left in our auditoriums around lunchtime for the rest of October for you to choose from:

Oct 6 (Fri) (this is the week of the 2nd but falls right before a 3 day weekend)

Oct 11 (Wed)

Oct 16 (Mon)

Oct 17 (Tue)

Oct 20 (Fri)

Oct 23 (Mon)

Oct 24 (Tue)

Oct 27 (Fri)

Since this is a busy month, I expect other folks in the building will be looking at these spots as well so time is of the essence. As soon as you are able, let me know what day (or days) works for the director and we will lock it down.

Hi Tom,

My name is David Inserra and I'm the Policy Analyst for Homeland Security and Cyber Policy here at Heritage under Jim. We are very excited to host the director for an event at Heritage. To get started, I was hoping we flesh out some of key details for this event.

- What kind of event are you looking for? From your email, it looks like a public keynote followed by a private luncheon would be best but open to other ideas you may have as well.
- If a public event, would you open to having a Heritage panel precede the director and allow him to conclude with a keynote? Would he take Q&A?
- What is the timeline for this event? It goes without saying, but we can work around whatever dates and times work best for the director. As soon as you give us some dates and times, we can find a time that is available and put our auditorium on hold.
- Any other key details that you'd like to raise?

Once again, we are very excited to have Director Homan come to Heritage. Let me know if you have any questions and I look forward to working with you and your staff.

Sincerely,

David

I wanted to reach out on behalf of Acting Director Tom Homan who has been in the news quite a bit lately with an "enforce the law" message taking on sanctuary cities, MS-13 among other priorities. We were wondering whether Heritage might have a forum that may be interested in inviting him to speak on immigration issues. We have been doing a lot of media but he has not had the chance to present these issues in a speech, roundtable type of situation.

I thought I would reach out and get your advice as well as assure you have my new coordinates.

Sir:

The Center for Immigration Studies reached out to request AD1's participation for an upcoming panel discussion on immigration. Below is their exact request.

“The Center for Immigration Studies launches a new speaker series this spring, Immigration Newsmaker Speaker Series. The initial guests will be government agency leaders (USCIS, EOIR, PRM, DOJ) and members of Congress. The one hour event with Director Homan, which would be held at the National Press Club, would be a seated, casual conversation between Homan and our executive director, Mark Krikorian or our director of policy studies, Jessica Vaughan. This is meant to be a friendly sit down - an opportunity for Homan to talk about challenges, priorities, and goals. I imagine topics would include: the impact of sanctuary cities on enforcement, worksite enforcement, the myth of a massive immigration enforcement dragnet, etc.

As to format, I am planning a 30-45 minute conversation, with Q & A to follow, which would come from the audience and CIS staff. Attendees will not be able to ask questions from the floor, questions will be passed to staff who will select questions to be asked. If Homan would prefer to not to take questions, we would just extend the chat a bit longer.

The event will be open to the public, with invitations going out to media, legislative staff, and the general CIS mailing list. I certainly plan to invite C-SPAN to attend. I would expect between 35 and 70 attendees. The event will be videotaped and posted online, along with a transcript.

There is some flexibility in the format and the attendee list, if you have any concerns. We are also flexible on dates - May 15 or 16, June 4 or 5, June 12 or 13. The best time slot would be 9:30 because reporters can write up the story before lunch and before the WH press briefing. But once again, we are flexible.”

Please let me know if AD1 is interested. I added OPA here for visibility.

Thank you so much for your help with this event. June 5 at 9:30am would be perfect. As I stated before, the conversation between Jessica Vaughan, CIS Director of Policy Studies, and Director Homan will take place at the National Press Club. We will be in touch in May about topics Homan may like to discuss. Our first "Immigration Newsmaker" will take place May first with James McHenry, Director of the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR).

We are launching a immigration speaker series in May. We would love Homan to participate in a one of the one on one conversation about enforcement. It will be a casual back and forth between Homan and Mark Krikorian, or, more likely, Homan and Jessica Vaughan. We view this as an opportunity for Homan to speak to the issues he thinks are important and how he thinks they should be addressed, perhaps to the challenges he has faced at ICE. Whether we open the floor to questions will be up to Homan.

Could you please direct me to the appropriate person to ask about Homan's availability?

For someone of his rank, we would generally have him only give the keynote while the panel was more analyst/fellow level discussion of enforcement. The panel would be made up probably of Heritage staff and maybe an outside think tanker who has similar views. Off the top of my head, I could see myself, Dr. Carafano, and Hans von Spakovsky as potential panelists from Heritage. Examples of potential outside experts we might invite would be Jessica Vaughan of CIS or maybe a Senate/House staffer from Homeland/Judiciary committees.

Obviously this is all up in the air but it gives you an idea of what the panel might look like.

As we think through the details, let me suggest a possible format:

1100-1200 panel with think tankers on issues of enforcement.
1200-1230/1245/1300 (or however long is desired). Keynote by the Acting Director and Q&A.

I've talked it over with our events team and the week of 2nd might be a bit too fast of a turn around and there is limited availability. October is a busy month so I got all the available spots left in our auditoriums around lunchtime for the rest of October for you to choose from:

Oct 6 (Fri) (this is the week of the 2nd but falls right before a 3 day weekend)

Oct 11 (Wed)

Oct 16 (Mon)

Oct 17 (Tue)

Oct 20 (Fri)

Oct 23 (Mon)

Oct 24 (Tue)

Oct 27 (Fri)

Since this is a busy month, I expect other folks in the building will be looking at these spots as well so time is of the essence. As soon as you are able, let me know what day (or days) works for the director and we will lock it down.

Hi Tom,

My name is David Inserra and I'm the Policy Analyst for Homeland Security and Cyber Policy here at Heritage under Jim. We are very excited to host the director for an event at Heritage. To get started, I was hoping we flesh out some of key details for this event.

- What kind of event are you looking for? From your email, it looks like a public keynote followed by a private luncheon would be best but open to other ideas you may have as well.
- If a public event, would you open to having a Heritage panel precede the director and allow him to conclude with a keynote? Would he take Q&A?
- What is the timeline for this event? It goes without saying, but we can work around whatever dates and times work best for the director. As soon as you give us some dates and times, we can find a time that is available and put our auditorium on hold.
- Any other key details that you'd like to raise?

Once again, we are very excited to have Director Homan come to Heritage. Let me know if you have any questions and I look forward to working with you and your staff.

Sincerely,
David

We are in the process of finalizing our 3rd panelist- we are looking getting a staffer from the house judiciary committee to give a perspective from Capitol Hill. Will let you know as soon as we finalize that name.

For someone of his rank, we would generally have him only give the keynote while the panel was more analyst/fellow level discussion of enforcement. The panel would be made up probably of Heritage staff and maybe an outside think tanker who has similar views. Off the top of my head, I could see myself, Dr. Carafano, and Hans von Spakovsky as potential panelists from Heritage. Examples of potential outside experts we might invite would be Jessica Vaughan of CIS or maybe a Senate/House staffer from Homeland/Judiciary committees.

Obviously this is all up in the air but it gives you an idea of what the panel might look like.

Hi Tom,

My name is David Inserra and I'm the Policy Analyst for Homeland Security and Cyber Policy here at Heritage under Jim. We are very excited to host the director for an event at Heritage. To get started, I was hoping we flesh out some of key details for this event.

- What kind of event are you looking for? From your email, it looks like a public keynote followed by a private luncheon would be best but open to other ideas you may have as well.
- If a public event, would you open to having a Heritage panel precede the director and allow him to conclude with a keynote? Would he take Q&A?
- What is the timeline for this event? It goes without saying, but we can work around whatever dates and times work best for the director. As soon as you give us some dates and times, we can find a time that is available and put our auditorium on hold.
- Any other key details that you'd like to raise?

Once again, we are very excited to have Director Homan come to Heritage. Let me know if you have any questions and I look forward to working with you and your staff.

Sincerely,
David

We are launching a immigration speaker series in May. We would love Homan to participate in a one of the one on one conversation about enforcement. It will be a casual back and forth between Homan and Mark Krikorian, or, more likely, Homan and Jessica Vaughan. We view this as an opportunity for Homan to speak to the issues he thinks are important and how he thinks they should be addressed, perhaps to the challenges he has faced at ICE. Whether we open the floor to questions will be up to Homan.

Could you please direct me to the appropriate person to ask about Homan's availability?
